SOUTH VIET NAM

1205 National Bank of Viet Nam August 13, 1973 Short Snorter With South Vietnamese Soldier's Signatures to U.S. Military Advisor.

South Viet Nam, August 13, 1973, 20 Dong, P-24a, issued banknote dated within 4 months of the last U.S. soldier departing the South with numerous South Vietnamese soldier's signatures on face and back dated August 13, 1973 and evidently given to their U.S. Military advisor who had not yet withdrawn from Viet Nam. His name was Mr. Seacord who might have been with the CIA or other related intelligence group guiding the South Vietnamese soldier's missions. Evidently they were appreciative of his leadership. Within 4 months, the North Vietnamese would come in and take over South Viet Nam. Most of these soldiers whose signatures are on this note (it appears to be close to 20 signatures) may not have fared well in the hands of the North Vietnamese. VF condition. Los Angeles, California, 1932. 10th Olympics held in Los Angeles, California. Back has outline of the LA Coliseum and where the different rows are located. Intaglio printed, 1/2 inch stain bottom left margin. The Games were held during the worldwide Great Depression, with some nations not traveling to Los Angeles; 37 nations competed, compared to the 46 in the 1928 Games in Amsterdam, and then-U.S. President Herbert Hoover did not attend the Games. The organizing committee did not report the financial details of the Games, although contemporary newspapers claimed that the Games had made a profit of US$1,000,000. Remarkably, the selection process consisted of a single bid, from Los Angeles, and as there were no bids from any other city, Los Angeles was selected by default to host the 1932 Games. It was at this Olympics that an Olympic Village was first built, and that a podium for the winners was also first used. Printed by Jeffries Bank Note Company which was eventually acquired by ABNC. 1411 Sun Microsystems, 1989 Specimen Stock Certificate, XF - Java Creator Sun Microsystems, Inc. was an American company that sold computers, computer components, software, and information technology services and created the Java programming language, the Solaris operating system, ZFS, the Network File System (NFS), and SPARC. Sun contributed significantly to the evolution of several key computing technologies, among them Unix, RISC processors, thin client computing, and virtualized computing. Sun was founded on February 24, 1982. At its height, the Sun headquarters were in Santa Clara, California (part of Silicon Valley), on the former west campus of the Agnews Developmental Center. On April 20, 2009, it was announced that Oracle Corporation would acquire Sun for US$7.4 billion. The deal was completed on January 27, 2010. Sun products included computer servers and workstations built on its own RISC-based SPARC processor architecture, as well as on x86-based AMD Opteron and Intel Xeon processors. Sun also developed its own storage systems and a suite of software products, including the Solaris operating system, developer tools, Web infrastructure software, and identity management applications. Other technologies included the Java platform and NFS. In general, Sun was a proponent of open systems, particularly Unix. It was also a major contributor to open-source software, as evidenced by its $1 billion purchase, in 2008, of MySQL, an open-source relational database management system. At various times, Sun had manufacturing facilities in several locations worldwide, including Newark, California; Hillsboro, Oregon; and Linlithgow, Scotland. However, by the time the company was acquired by Oracle, it had outsourced most manufacturing responsibilities. Est. $75-150

ABN Reynolds American, Inc. is an American tobacco company which is a subsidiary of British American Tobacco and is the second-largest tobacco company in the United States. Its holdings include R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, American Snuff Company (formerly Conwood Company), Santa Fe Natural Tobacco Company, and Nicovum AB. Reynolds American's subsidiaries manufacture and market a variety of tobacco products, including cigarettes (Newport, Camel, Pall Mall, Kent, Doral, Misty, Capri, and Natural American Spirit brands) and moist snuff (Grizzly and Kodiak brands). In 2010, Reynolds American's operating companies sold about 28% of all cigarettes sold in the U.S. In July 2014, Reynolds American announced the purchase of Lorillard Tobacco Company in a deal valued at $27 billion. In January 2017, Reynolds American agreed to be purchased by British American Tobacco for $49.4 billion. Reynolds American was formed in January 2004 and began trading publicly on the New York Stock Exchange as RAI in August 2004. In July 2004 the U.S. business of British American Tobacco (Brown & Williamson) was combined with that of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company (R. J. Reynolds), under the R. J. Reynolds name. R. J. Reynolds and Brown & Williamson were the second and third-ranking U.S. tobacco companies prior to the combination. When they combined, R. J. Reynolds became a subsidiary of Reynolds American, with BAT holding a 42% share of RAI. Santa Fe Natural Tobacco Company, which manufactures the additive-free Natural American Spirit brand of tobacco products, also became a subsidiary of Reynolds American at that time. Prior to becoming RAI operating companies, both R. J. Reynolds and Santa Fe were part of R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Holdings, Inc., which traded on the New York Stock Exchange as RJR. RJR became a subsidiary of RAI in July 2004. R. J. Reynolds was established as a tobacco company in Winston-Salem, North Carolina in 1875. In 2006, Reynolds American expanded into the smokeless tobacco category, with the acquisition of Conwood, the second-biggest smokeless tobacco company in the United States. Conwood manufactures and markets moist and dry snuff, loose leaf, plug, and twist chewing tobaccos. At the time of the acquisition, 70% of Conwood's sales came from the growing moist-snuff segment, with the Grizzly brand showing the fastest growth. Grizzly's continued growth since 2006 has made it the best-selling brand in the moist-snuff category. In 2008, RAI was recognized as a leader in corporate sustainability by being added to the membership in the 2008-2009 Dow Jones Sustainability North America Index (DJSI North America). RAI is the only U.S. tobacco company and one of 125 North American companies on the index. Selection for the Index is based on performance in a number of economic, environmental and social criteria. 1807 New York, West Shore & Buffalo Railway Co, 1881 Specimen 5% Coupon Bond, VF ABNC

Rare bond unknown issued or Specimen until this example. Rare and very attractive bond. ABNC. NY, New York, West Shore & Buffalo Railway Co, 1881 Specimen 5% Coupon Bond, VF ABNC, The New York, West Shore, and Buffalo Railroad was created in 1882 to build a line from Weehawken, NJ to Buffalo, NY. It was built to directly compete with the New York Central as it tracks virtually paralleled the Central's all the way to Buffalo. The name was derived from the location of the initial right of way on the West Shore of the Hudson River. The West Shore reached Buffalo around 1884. This event precipitated a shipping rate war with the New York Central. The New York Central had been forced to acquire the Nickel Plate as its parallel line along the Central's Lake Shore route threatened to be too competitive for the wily Vanderbilts. When the West Shore did the same thing on the remainder of the Central's New York to Chicago route the Central had no choice, but to batter them into submission financially. The West Shore soon went bankrupt and the NYC's deep pockets were barely dented. In 1885 the West Shore was reorganized as the West Shore Railroad, a wholly owned subsidiary of the New York Central lines. It operated in this capacity until 1952 when the West Shore was formally merged into the New York Central. Quite a bit of the old West Shore still exists today and is used by CSX, the successor to Conrail, Penn Central and the New York Central. It is CSX' primary freight route north from New York City on the west shore of the Hudson river. Pieces in central New York including most of the line between Utica, through Syracuse to Rochester exist as bypasses or connections and the old West Shore East Buffalo Yard is now a part of CSX' Frontier Yard. Splits at horizontal folds archivally reinforced and repaired. Rare bond that will be impossible to improve upon. Est. $75-150

- 1876 James River & Kanawha Co., 1866, 1/U Stock Certificate Virginia, 1866. 20 Shares 1/U Capital Stock Certificate, S/N 968, VF-XF condition. The James River and Kanawha Canal was a partially built canal in Virginia intended to facilitate shipments of passengers and freight by water between the western counties of Virginia and the coast. Ultimately its towpath became the roadbed for a rail line following the same course. Encouraged by George Washington, the canal project was begun in 1785 as the James River Company, and later restarted under the James River and Kanawha Canal Company. It was an expensive project which failed several times financially and was frequently damaged by floods. Though largely financed by the Commonwealth of Virginia through the Virginia Board of Public Works, it was only half completed by 1851, reaching Buchanan, in Botetourt County. When work to extend it further west stopped permanently, railroads were overtaking the canal as a far more productive mode of transportation. After the American Civil War, funds for resuming construction were unavailable from either the war-torn Commonwealth or private sources. The project also did poorly against railroad competition, finally succumbing to damage done by massive flooding in 1877. In the end, its right-of-way was bought and the canal was largely dismantled by the new Richmond and Allegheny Railroad, which laid tracks on the former towpath. Est. $70-120
